A group of four people (three men and one woman) are seated around a wooden table in a bright, modern office environment. They are engaged in a collaborative meeting, with papers, pens, and coffee cups on the table. The woman in the foreground is smiling and looking towards the others. The man next to her is looking down at a document. The woman in the background is looking towards the camera. The man on the right is seen from the back, holding a pen. The overall atmosphere is professional and collaborative.
